Officials Study Problems After Operation Alert

Emergency Steps Needed Outlined to President Eisenhower

EMERGENCY NEWS HEADQUARTERS, Operation Alert (UP)—How can 41 million Americans fleeing the target cities of an atomic war find shelter, food and medical care?

How can the entire nation carry on, with banks, businesses and industries in all key cities destroyed by a mass H-bomb raid?

Where will the money for wages come from while the nation picks up the pieces?

These are some of the enormous problems defense mobilization chiefs and skeleton staff of federal, state and local government officials were wrestling with today, after a make-believe atomic "Pearl Harbor."

They outlined to President Eisenhower this morning the emergency steps they are theoretically taking to tackle the problems.

Eisenhower flew from his Gettysburg, Pa., farm to the secret central headquarters of civil defense and defense mobilization in a mountain area near Washington, received a briefing and returned to Washington this morning.

Officials told the President 155 cities, air bases, atomic installations and dams were theoretically blasted by the enemy assault. Living in the target areas were more than half the nation's population—95,500,000.

About 41 million men, women and children were assumed to have heard the sirens and reached relative safety before the bombs and missiles fell. The rest presumably were killed or injured by the blast and radiation.

Vital transportation and communication was "destroyed." An urgent defense mobilization task today was to get essential services in operation in the devastated areas.

It was evident that dictatorial powers, rigid allocation of materials, labor drafting and other governmental controls would be required.

Officials also were studying the complex machinery of setting criteria for federal, state and local aid to rehabilitate areas.

Two Injured in Auto-Train Crash

Mrs. Kenneth Booten of Ledford is a patient in Lightner hospital receiving treatment for injuries received in an automobile-freight train collision Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Booten, driving their Mercury with Mrs. Booten as passenger, also was injured, but has been released from the hospital.

The accident occurred at the intersection of the Ledford road and the New York Central railroad.

Mr. Booten is employed as an engineer in the Harrisburg yards and the Booten residence is near the site of the accident.

Dr. J. J. Klein, attending physician, states Mrs. Booten suffered multiple abrasions and lacerations and possibly fractures of the left shoulder, chest and foot.

Dr. Klein stated portable x-rays indicated the fractures, but more x-rays and examinations would be completed today and the full extent of the injuries were not known.

The accident occurred as the Bootens were driving from Ledford toward state highway 45 and the NYC freight train was traveling south.

The automobile, hit in the side near the center, was badly damaged.

RAIN SCUTTLES AIR TRAFFIC—Grounded passengers keep their feet elevated at Chicago's Midway Airport as torrents of water flood waiting rooms during the Windy City's heaviest rainstorm in over 70 years. Over a half-foot of rain fell, most of it in a six-hour period, causing several storm-connected deaths and property damage in the millions of dollars.

Record Rains Push Rivers Over Banks in Illinois Areas

By United Press
The run-off of record rains pushed rivers over their banks in northern Illinois.

The Illinois River rose 12 feet above flood stage at La Salle, flooding thousands of acres of corn land.

South of Chicago, the Grand and Little Calumets flooded.

The Illinois River between Dresden Island and Marseilles surged to depths that forced river traffic to stop.

Electrical equipment for the locks near Marseilles was taken out and moved to higher ground.

At least 11 deaths

The difference of 17 feet between the upper and lower river maintained in a pool at Starved Rock State Park was virtually wiped out. The water level difference was down to about 1 1/2 feet. All gates were opened between the upper and lower river.

The crest at La Salle was expected about noon today at 28 feet. However, few houses or buildings were expected to be touched. The high water in the Illinois forced its way into some sewers in La Salle.

Thousands were forced to flee homes and industries in the Glee Hammond, Ind., section sandbagged.

Clinton, Tenn., Editor Receives Lovejoy Award at Southern Illinois U.

CARBONDALE, Ill.—Horace V. Wells Jr., editor of the Clinton (Tenn.) Courier-News, today was named recipient of the 1957 Elijah P. Lovejoy Award for Courage in Journalism.

Wells received an inscribed plaque today at the third annual National Conference of Weekly Newspaper Editors sponsored by the Department of Journalism at Southern Illinois University.

The award was presented by Dr. Howard R. Long, department chairman, who praised Wells for "his realistic devotion to the principles of law and order" while "subjected to the scorn and abuse of a large element in his community."

The South's first major clash involving Negro-white integration in the schools was centered at Clinton last year. Racial tensions reached a peak in September, when a mob, fanned by extremists, took control of the town. Not until 600 Tennessee National Guardsmen moved in was order restored. More violence occurred in December.

Although personally opposed to integration, Wells insisted that the Supreme Court's ruling must be upheld, regardless of local prejudices and animosities.

"We believe that the government of the United States is a government of the law and not of man, and that the Supreme Court is the final arbiter in deciding what is law," Wells wrote. "Therefore once the Supreme Court has spoken and until the decision of that Court is changed by Amendment to the Constitution by a vote of the people, we have no choice except to obey the law."

Emerging as a leader of the anti-segregation forces, Wells constantly stressed the necessity of obeying the law. Repeated attempts were made to boycott his newspaper, his family was threatened, and a dynamite charge was set off near his home.

Northern segregationist John Kasper and 15 Clinton area residents are now on trial in Knoxville on charges of criminal contempt of court for alleged violation of an injunction prohibiting interference with integration of Clinton High School.

Kasper's trial has been heralded as a major test of the U. S. government's power to enforce the Supreme Court's order to end segregation in the public schools.

Six other weekly editors had been nominated for the award, which was presented last year to Mrs. Mabel Norris Reese, editor of the Mount Dora (Fla.) Topic.

Heavy Rain Hits Carrier Mills Area

The Carrier Mills area was hit by a clod-moving gully washer shortly after 5 p. m. Sunday afternoon.

Reports are that the heavy rain fall, which didn't last very long quickly filled sewers and drainage ditches and the waters rushed across streets, yards and gardens.

The flood hit Carrier Mills at the time it became so dark and threatening in Harrisburg and rain fell, but not nearly as hard as it did south of here.

At least 11 deaths were blamed on the deluge, four of them caused by electrocution when home owners touched electrical equipment in flooded basements. Others drowned or suffered heart attacks while trying to bail the swirling waters from their homes.

Vandalia got 5.79 inches of rain Sunday in 12 hours. The Vandalia area has undergone two floods in recent weeks, which inundated about 50,000 acres of low-lying farmland.

At Effingham, heavy rain fell Sunday, forcing motorists to halt on the highway.

At Kankakee, 1,000 persons were taken from homes in about 70 privately owned boats. About 500 persons moved out of Bradley when Soldier Creek overflowed.

Nearly 200 persons were forced to evacuate their homes in Joliet, and 8,100 patients at Manteno State Hospital were temporarily endangered when power failed. Candles and lanterns were used for illumination.

Mrs. Anna Veronica Kentrus Paletis died late Saturday afternoon in the Harrisburg hospital. She had been in the hospital since last Sunday evening and had been in failing health for the past two years.

Mrs. Paletis was born in Lithuania and has been residing in Saline county since 1907.

She is survived by two daughters, Miss Monica Kentrus of Harrisburg and Mrs. Rosa Mae-eika of Chicago; one son, Frank Kentrus of Harrisburg, and two stepsons, Walter Paletis of Chicago and Victor Paletis of Pontiac, Mich. Mrs. Paletis also has one living grand-daughter, Miss Mary Ann Fledderjohann of Wapakoneta, Ohio. She was preceded in death by her husband, one daughter and three sons.

The body will lie in state at the Harrisburg funeral home and Rosary will be said at 7:30 p. m. today. The funeral will be held at St. Mary's Catholic church Tuesday at 9 a. m. Rev. T. G. Bruns will officiate and burial will be in the Sunset Hill cemetery.

Police Halt Motorists Without City License

A drive was started this morning to collect city automobile licenses in Harrisburg and a number of tickets were issued, Chief of Police Ross Lane has announced.

The city police, working in pairs, were stationed at three main intersections in south Harrisburg and stopped all automobiles not displaying a 1957 Harrisburg city license.

Several stopped were carrying their license in the car and were instructed to put the license on their windshield as the ordinance requiring the purchase of a license also states it "shall be displayed."

Those receiving tickets for failure to have purchased automobile license will be fined $4 and cost, and be required to purchase a license at the regular $3 cost.

The drive will continue in an effort to see that every automobile in Harrisburg is properly licensed, Chief Lane declared.

Licenses were due May 1 and several warnings regarding the purchase have been issued by the police officials.

Vienna Man and His Four Children Burn to Death

Hurst Man Fined, Faces Federal Liquor Charges

Drunken driving and alleged possession of untaxed liquor may prove to be very costly to a Hurst resident.

Saturday afternoon Chief of Police Ross Lane arrested Samuel W. Shettleworth on West Poplar street charging him with driving while intoxicated.

Shettleworth entered a plea of guilty to the charge and was fined $150 and cost by Justice of the Peace O. L. Woods.

At the time of the arrest Chief Lane stated he found a gallon and part of a half pint of "moonshine" in the car. John G. Durako of Metropolis, representative of the Federal Alcohol Tax division, was called into the case.

Shettleworth was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Harry McCabe where bond was set and he was bound over for Federal Grand jury.

Durako confiscated the automobile owned by Shettleworth, a 1953 Dodge.

An automobile used for transporting untaxed liquor may be confiscated and sold to the highest bidder, it is reported.

Commissioner McCabe reports this is the second untaxed liquor case to come before him in a week's time.

J. W. Robinson of Morganfield, Ky., was arrested in Shawneetown, Monday, July 8, and charged with having five half-pints of untaxed liquor in his possession. He also has been released on bond and bound over to the next term of the Federal Grand jury.

Delivered by Two Men

Find Bullet-Riddled Body of House Painter in Truck at Express Office

NEW YORK (UP)—Police searched today for two men, believed to have been unsuspecting dupes, who delivered a trunk containing the bullet-riddled body of a 52-year-old painter to a Railway Express office for shipment to Los Angeles.

A check of fingerprint files at FBI headquarters in Washington identified the victim as James Malloy of New York, formerly of Philadelphia.

The small caliber of the weapon used, a .22, gave rise to the theory Malloy had been shot by a woman, police said.

His body, pierced by three slugs and wrapped in New York City newspapers, was delivered to a 42nd Street Railway Express office Saturday afternoon by two men, each about 28 years old, whom police believe were hired messengers unaware of the trunk's contents.

The corpse was discovered five hours later when express workers, suspicious of the strong odor emanating from the trunk, forced the lock.

A medical examiner said Malloy had been dead about 24 hours when his body was discovered.

The small trunk—35 inches long, 15 inches deep and 20 inches wide—was addressed to a "Hal Jefferson" of the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles. But hotel officials said no person by that name was registered at the Ambassador, nor was there any record of anyone by that name having stayed at the hotel.

Police received good descriptions of the men who delivered the trunk to the express office by car.

They remained in the office about 25 minutes while a clerk weighed and insured the black trunk. After paying $40.92 for the shipment with $50, one remarked:

"Let's go out and drink the rest up."

New Payoffs Claimed

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — A preliminary investigation of alleged bribery in the state Legislature was broadened today to include new charges of "payoffs" for the passage of a bill banning Sunday automobile sales.

Asst. State's Atty. John Howarth said the investigation will be expanded "as much as needed" to make a complete investigation of all bribery charges.

The alleged "payoffs" were charged in a story printed by a Chicago newspaper in which it was said that a number of Chicago automobile dealers were attempting to retrieve their alleged "payoff" money.

The bill banning Sunday auto sales was voted by Gov. Stratton after it passed the Legislature. The newspaper story indicated bribes totaling some $42,000 had been paid for passage of the bill.

Howarth said he or State's Atty. J. Waldo Ackerman would question the writer of the story as soon as possible.

Approached by Lobbyist

The "bribery" investigation began when vote buying allegations were made concerning passage of a bill to legalize pari-mutuel betting on jai alai games.

It was broadened Friday when two freshmen lawmakers charged that a lobbyist attempted to buy them off on a bill to ban ambulance chasing in Illinois.

The two, both Republicans, were Reps. Robert F. Casey, Aurora, and John E. Erlenborn, Elmhurst. Howarth discussed the charges with them last week by telephone, and said today he would attempt to see them sometime this week.

Fire Destroys Home in Early Hours Sunday

Rites Held Today; Mother and Second Man Escape Death

Roscoe Martin, 47, and his four children were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their home about five miles north of Vienna at about 3 a. m. Sunday. The children were John, 14, William, 12, Jerry Ray, 9, and Cheryl Maye, 3.

The mother, Mrs. Norma Ethel Martin, and Don Pender, who was in the home at the time, escaped the fire. Pender was burned about the face and arms, but Mrs. Martin was not injured.

An inquest was held Sunday in the Vienna Times office, conducted by Royce Bridges, deputy coroner. Because of conflicting testimony the jury recommended further investigation into the cause of the fire and resulting deaths.

According to the testimony of Mr. Pender and Mrs. Martin, they had returned to the Martin home from a tavern in Vienna about 11 o'clock Saturday night, and that Mr. Martin was brought home by a friend about 11:15. They testified Mr. Martin went directly to bed.

According to Pender, he testified he was asleep and when he awoke suddenly he found the house on fire. The only exit was the front door, he stated, as the doors to other rooms were blocked by furniture, so he jumped through a window.

Mrs. Martin testified she was asleep on the couch and woke up when she saw a chair afire. She stated she ran outdoors for a bucket of water which she poured on the fire and returned outside for another bucket, but when she tried to get back in the house she was unable to because the entire house was ablaze.

The children were asleep in upstairs bedrooms and were trapped by the fire.

The bodies were in the care of the Robertson-Mount funeral home in Vienna and funeral services were held at 2 p. m. today for Roscoe Martin and the children in the Taylor Methodist church near the Martin home. The Rev. R. S. Richardson of the First Baptist church of Vienna officiated and burial was in the Taylor church cemetery.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

by DREW PEARSON

Drew Pearson says: Sen. Knowland willing to delay Civil Rights until January if South agreed to definite voting date; House of Representatives and Ike to vacation while Senate talks; Ike's bitterness toward Harry still seethes.

WASHINGTON.—President Eisenhower blinked when Bill Knowland of California, Senate GOP leader, reported at the last White House strategy meeting: "The filibuster against Civil Rights conceivably could keep Congress in session until October. Those southerners are awfully smart parliamentarians. They know every delaying tactic in the book." Knowland strongly indicated, however, that he would be ready to discuss a "compromise" to prevent a prolonged filibuster which would tie up appropriation bills and other important legislation.

"But the only compromise I would accept," he added, "would be an assurance from the democratic leadership that the Civil Rights measure would be put on the Senate calendar for debate on a specific date next January."

"In the event of a long filibuster," inquired the president, "what happens to the rest of our program—the school bill, the OTC (extension of reciprocal trade), the postal rate increase and so on?"

"I guess it would have to be put on the shelf until the next session of Congress," replied Knowland.

Eisenhower said he hoped this wouldn't happen. Once again he stressed his hope for action on the school construction bill. Republican leaders nodded without comment. They consider the school bill virtually a dead duck, not because of the civil rights filibuster, but because of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

"Troops for the South?"

Not long ago when the House passed the civil rights bill, the president heartily congratulated House GOP leaders Joe Martin and Charlie Halleck. He said it was an excellent measure. But at this week's White House meeting, he seemed to be getting cold feet. "I'm a little concerned about section 3 of the bill," he told Republican leaders. "Senator Russell of Georgia has objected that it may open the door to the use of troops. Nobody wants that, I'm sure I don't. I hope the Senate will carefully look over this section and make any changes that may be necessary."

There was a chuckle when Senator Knowland suggested that the president should not let the Senate filibuster interfere with his "vacation plans."

"I'm giving the House some time off during the filibuster," reported the Californian. "Its members will be taking a recess while we are working in the Senate."

"In that case," interposed ex-speaker Joe Martin, "why don't you come along with us, Mr. President? While the Senate talks, you might as well be carrying on the routine business of the White House in Newport!" The president happily agreed.

Mailbag—Les Weinroth, Chicago.—The reason President Eisenhower sent such an icy message to the Truman library dedication, in contrast to the fact that ex-president Herbert Hoover came a long way to be present, probably goes back to the speech Truman made in San Francisco during the 1952 campaign in which he pointed out that Eisenhower, as American commander in Germany in 1945, should have taken a stand against the Russian corridor around the city of Berlin. Eisenhower has snubbed Truman ever since, would not get out of his car to greet the retiring president when the pair drove up to the capitol for Ike's first inauguration, and refused to see Truman when the latter tried to pay a courtesy call during the president's visit to Kansas City four years ago. State department officials have suggested that Truman be sent abroad as a good will ambassador to counteract the Khrushchev-Bulganin visits, but Ike has said no. Though Roosevelt and Hoover never got along, probably there has never been a president who felt so strongly toward his predecessor as Eisenhower does toward Truman.

Harry Walker, Boston.—This column did not mean to insinuate that Senator Kennedy of Massachusetts made his speech on Algeria merely to scoop Vice President Nixon. This implication was not intended. Fact is that Senator Kennedy has long been a student of Asiatic-African affairs, feels strongly that the United States should take a lead toward promoting independence in these areas... S. D., Bismarck, N. D.—Senator Milton Young of North Dakota was in Washington during the Hells Canyon battle but did not vote. He would have voted for the bill and against the administration. However, the White House lobbyists so astutely made an engagement for Senator Young with the executive offices on a matter very important to North Dakota so that he would not be on the Senate floor during the vote.

A Senator's Letter Started It—Ex-Senator Bill Benton of Connecticut was surprised, while attending the Truman library dedication, to see a letter of his framed as one of the library's exhibits.

It was a letter he had written, as a senator, to President Truman stating that his hearings on civil rights had convinced him that the president of the United States had the power to enforce fair employment practices on all government contracts immediately and without the passage of a law by Congress.

Under his now framed letter, Benton noticed a note scribbled in Truman's own handwriting, addressed to Charles Murphy, the White House counsel, which said: "Please prepare an order to carry this out. HST."

Next to the letter was an explanatory note by the Truman librarian explaining that this illustrated the manner in which presidential orders sometimes originated. It was the first time Senator Benton had known that he originated enforcement of fair employment practices on government contracts.

New Record for Bills Passed, Appropriations

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — The 1957 Legislature and Gov. William G. Stratton set new records for number of bills and total appropriations approved.

A check showed the General Assembly passed and Stratton approved appropriations totaling $4,036,000 more than the Governor recommended in his record-smashing $2,244,000,000 budget.

Actually the Legislature passed appropriations totaling about 50 million dollars in excess of the budget presented by Stratton.

But the Governor vetoed $9,313,000 worth of appropriations.

This means the state will spend about $2,285,000,000 over the next two years. The figure includes state money and federal grants.

The Legislature also passed a new record of 1,313 bills, of which Stratton signed 1,184 into law, vetoed 123 and vetoed parts of 6 others.

Stratton's 123 vetoes fell far short of the record 289 vetoes he made in 1955.

Warning To Wives

HARTFORD, Conn. — After a third wife, who had her husband arrested, refused to testify, Police Court Prosecutor James N. Eagan said: "These women come in to play the piano and ask for sympathy. They tie up a policeman two or three hours in court and then don't want to testify. I say, let them live at their own peril."

GENERAL TELEPHONE COMPANY IS MAKING CHANGES!

Moving day is in the offing for your Telephone Company and there are many changes being made as the work of converting to dial operation progresses.

You — the customer — will be affected by some of these changes! For the few weeks before your new dial service is in operation we ask that you supply your frequent callers with your new telephone number since we find it necessary to discontinue intercepting calls for changed numbers.

There will be no change in the handling of information calls — all requests for customers' numbers will be supplied in the usual manner. We have, however, prepared a special supplemental directory which lists many number changes made during the conversion period. This directory which will reach you within a few days, lists changes made prior to June 12, 1957.

We will appreciate your co-operation in working with us during this change over period.

Matter of FACT

Britannica Junior Encyclopedia

Ancient Greek legends held that Homer was an aged blind minstrel, and was the author of both the Iliad and the Odyssey. However, conjectures about his life place his birth date all the way from the 12th to the 7th century, B. C., and seven cities claimed him as a native son. Many scholars either doubt that Homer existed at all, or doubt that the two epics were the product of any single man.

Each egg stands on a paper collar trimmed with a neck bow or net to match the touches on the hat. It takes Jane about three hours to whip up one of her Dache-like creations.

Change in Fee System For Birth, Death Records

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Hereafter, any application to the Illinois Department of Public Health for a certified copy of a birth or death certificate must be accompanied by a "search" fee of $1, regardless of whether the desired record is on file. If the certificate is on file, a certified copy will be furnished to the applicant without additional cost. Heretofore, a charge was made only for a certified copy and no compensation was received for searching the records when the desired certificate was not in the files.

This change in the fee system relating to birth and death records is the result of an amendment to the vital statistic act recently signed into law by Governor William G. Stratta.

Texas produced 960 million pounds of carbon black, valued at 68 million dollars in 1956.

To Clear Way for Newsmen to Enter Red China

WASHINGTON (UP)—The way will probably be cleared within the next two weeks or so for American newsmen to enter Red China, authoritative sources said today.

Plans for the long-awaited break-through of the "Bamboo Curtain" will be discussed at a meeting here Thursday of news media representatives with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Assistant Secretary of State Andrew Berding.

Informed sources said the meeting is expected to result in general agreement leading to abandonment of the State Department's long-standing ban on travel by newsmen to Red China.

The department, under heavy pressure from news organizations and members of Congress, has gradually been softening its position on the newsmen ban. Dulles has said recently that if plans could be worked out for a limited number of newsmen to go to China, something might be worked out.

Polio Cases Drop in Illinois

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—A sharp drop in the number of polio cases in the first half of 1957 was reported today by the Illinois Health Department.

There were only 17 polio cases reported in the first six months of this year, compared with 100 for the same period last year.

Health Director Dr. Roland R. Cross said the decline probably reflects the effectiveness of the polio vaccination program.

Carpenter is Granted Stay

Carpenter had been slated for death at 1:01 p. m. c. d. t. Tuesday.

Judge Wilbert F. Crowley in Criminal Court set a date of July 19 for ruling on Carpenter's sanity. He has refused to talk since his conviction and during his stay in the Cook County jail.

Crowley ruled that if Carpenter is found sane, his execution date will be July 29.

Army to Reorganize 7th Division In Korea Along Atomic Lines

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Army announced today it would begin immediately to reorganize the 7th Division in Korea along atomic lines to help counter the heavy Red military buildup in the north.

The 7th Division will become the 10th U. S. Pentomic Division. With the exception of the 11th Airborne Division in Europe the others are located in the United States, Hawaii and Alaska.

The United States and its Allies

last month nullified the 1953 Korean armistice agreement that prevented shipment of modern weapons to them. They said they did so to meet the "enormous" Communist buildup in North Korea.

Powerful new jet bombers and fighters already are slated to go to South Korea, as well as modern equipment and tanks for the two U. S. divisions holding the armistice line.

U. S. authorities said the revamped 7th Division will not immediately be equipped with atomic-capable weapons such as the Honest John rocket and Corporal guided missiles.

But such weapons ultimately are expected to be sent to U. S. forces in South Korea, they said.

The other U. S. division in Korea—the 24th Division—is not expected to be reorganized at present. There is behind-the-scenes talk of possibly replacing the 24th with the 1st Cavalry Division now in Japan.

The atomic streamlining of the 7th involves converting its three regiments into five combat groups which can fight independently of each other, maneuvering rapidly to defend against nuclear weapons and taking advantage of their own atomic punch capabilities.

The modernization also calls for a reduction in manpower from 17,646 to 13,748. The men may be reassigned in Korea or withdrawn from the peninsula.

Oil Drilling in State in Slump; One New Pool

URBANA, Ill. (UP)—Oil well drilling continued in its slump in June, the Illinois Geological Survey Division reported today, with only one new pool in Williamson County discovered during the month.

Name of the new pool was Corinth. It was the fourth new pool in Williamson County this year, of a total of eight new pools discovered in the state.

Only one producing well has been completed so far in each of the four new Williamson County pools.

There were two extensions to pools reported in June, Dale Consolidated in Hamilton County and Sailor Springs Consolidated in Clay County.

Drilling completions for the month totaled only 229, or an average of about 46 for a five week period.

In June a year ago an average of 80 wells per week were completed.

Of the 229 wells completed in June this year 85 were oil wells and the rest dry holes.

Oil production also dropped in June as a result of a strike by Ohio refineries.

More than 25 per cent of the oil produced in Illinois is transported by the Sohio Pipe Line Co. and much of the oil goes to refineries closed by the strike.

It has been necessary to cut production to the quantity of oil that could be handled by refineries which are operating.

Production dropped from about 220,000 barrels a day to about 150,000 barrels.

Estimated total production for June was about 5,651,000 barrels.

Nation Needs Revival, Not Jets, Evangelist Says

NEW YORK (UP)—Billy Graham told an overflow audience at Madison Square Garden Sunday night that the greatest need in America is not jet planes and atomic weapons but "a revival that will shake the country from one end to the other."

The 38-year-old evangelist addressed an audience of some 19,200 persons only hours after holding a large street-corner rally in Brooklyn.

"Will God allow us to see our cities destroyed by push button warfare? I don't know," Graham said. "God spared not the angels. . . . God spared not the old world except Noah."

Graham said there are a lot of people who think we are God's pets, but "the judgment of God is going to fall upon us unless we repent."

"What if Jesus walked down the streets of New York? He'd be stoned and crucified," Graham declared. "I tell you He shall not spare us unless we repent of our sins and accept Jesus Christ."

Turning to the question of discrimination, Graham admonished his audience that "We should speak up when we see the people of one color being discriminated against."

"I don't care what the color of the skin is or the denomination," he said. "The thing we must do is love one another. The mark of a Christian is love."

Insufficient Fire Protection At AEC Plants

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission has warned Congress that three uranium 235 plants have "insufficient fire protecting, detecting and extinguishing systems."

The AEC said the deficiencies were disclosed after a $2,600,000 fire in an auxiliary building at the Paducah, Ky., plant last November.

The AEC made the disclosures in closed-door testimony before a subcommittee of the congressional Atomic Energy Committee in April. The AEC requested 12 million dollars for fire protection measures at plants in Oak Ridge, Tenn., Portsmouth, Ohio, and Paducah.

The testimony, made public by the committee, said roof structures at the plants "are susceptible to complete damage by fire with ultimate failure of parts of the structural system."

"Should a fire similar to the one at Paducah occur in one of the major buildings of the gaseous diffusion plants, it is doubtful if the fire could be brought under control without serious loss of a substantial portion of U-235 production facilities, the total replacement cost of which approximates three billion dollars," the AEC said.

Illinois Traffic Toll Low Despite Bad Weather

By United Press

Illinois motorists held the weekend traffic toll to a relatively low level despite blinding rains and slippery, water-logged highways.

At least nine persons were killed in state traffic, three of them pedestrians.

Clifford Klinder, 32, Hillside, was killed at Wheaton Saturday when he walked in a road with his brother and was struck by a milk truck.

Donald Vesely, 26, Chicago, was killed on Lake Shore Drive when he dashed in front of a car Sunday.

Walter Blockhan, 70, Chicago, was killed in Chicago Saturday when he was hit by a car while attempting to cross a street.

A La Salle man, Donald Koob, about 30, was killed Saturday at Depue when his car ran off the road and smashed into a tree.

An accident in Springfield claimed the life of Stuart Buerkett, 51, Springfield. He died after his car struck a concrete abutment Saturday.

Albert M. Cheney, 63, Joliet, was killed Friday when his auto veered off the road and smashed into a tree.

A woman suffered a fatal attack after the car in which she was riding went out of control on U. S. 51 south of Rochelle Saturday. She was Mrs. Sadie Young, 81, Three Rivers, Mich.

A reporter for an Indiana newspaper, Melvin Perkins, 27, La Porte, Ind., was killed in a two-car smashup Sunday near Chester.

Miss Caroline Emery, 23, Tinley Park, was killed near Highland Park Friday when she was thrown from a car that collided with a fuel tank truck.

Deadline July 31 for Applications to State Police Force

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Applications for positions as state policemen will have to be in by July 31, State Police Merit Board Chairman Henry A. Gardner announced today.

The 1957 Legislature authorized an additional 500 men for the present 600-man force. The board already has approved a number of applications.

Candler said about 350 additional men will be needed. Patrolmen will start at $350 per month with increases up to $440 at the end of the fifth year.

Applicants for the positions are required to pass rigid mental and physical examinations and background investigations.

Navy Recruiter Finds Wedding Ring Lost in Lake by Newlyweds

CARBONDALE, Ill. (UP)—Navy came to the rescue of a couple of Carbondale newlyweds who were spending all of their extra time diving in a search for a missing wedding ring in a lake.

The couple, Wayne and Janet Williams, are counselors at Southern Illinois University's Little Grassy Lake camp. Janet lost her wedding ring while swimming.

Chief O. R. Robinson of the Navy recruiting station in Marion read about the couple's problem Friday in the Marion Daily Republican.

Robinson and Robert Mick, another Navy recruiter, drove 100 miles to get a diving suit.

Williams searched for two hours in 15 feet of muddy water and among tree stumps and debris before finding the ring.

Johnston City Man Charged

MARION, Ill. (UP)—Charges of resisting arrest, assault and battery and attempting to escape have been filed against a man who was shot Friday in Marion during a scuffle with a special deputy sheriff.

Sheriff Carl Miller said he filed the charges against Edward Krantz, 25, Johnston City. Krantz is in Marion Memorial Hospital with a bullet wound in the right shoulder. His condition was said to be good. Miller said Krantz was shot during a scuffle with Special Deputy Herman White, after Krantz had knocked White down.

White had arrested Krantz on two peace warrants signed by Krantz's wife and father-in-law, who claimed Krantz had threatened them, Miller said.

The scuffle occurred after Krantz attempted to leave a justice of the peace's office after he was unable to fill bond, Miller said.

Authorities said White's gun went off accidentally when he struck Krantz on the head with it to quell him.

Krantz's 3-year-old daughter was with him during the scuffle but was not injured.

Mail Trucks Again Carry Message Of Smokey Bear

Smokey Bear is riding the mail trucks again with his forest fire protection message. During July Smokey Bear posters will be displayed on mail trucks across the nation reaching into every rural and urban community with their plea to be extra careful with fire when visiting woodland and forest areas.

The Post Office Department has cooperated with state and federal forestry agencies for many years. Smokey Bear's message is presented at a time when millions of Americans are either planning or already visiting vacation areas in every state in the country. So his message is particularly timely. He has done much to prevent forest fires. Smokey has been a familiar figure to people all over America, and in other countries too, appearing in movies, in comic books, and on radio and television.

Ever since Smokey was rescued as a cub from a devastating forest fire in New Mexico, he has been a symbol of our national efforts to prevent fires from starting. He now makes his headquarters at the National Zoo in Washington, D. C.

Du Quoin Tops Coal Belt, 12-7; Carbondale Here Wednesday Night

The league-leading Du Quoin Coal Belt team topped the Harrisburg Coal Belt team, 12-7, yesterday afternoon on VFW Memorial Field. Harrisburg led until the top of the 7th and was ahead at that time by a 5-4 count but in this frame the visitors scored five big runs to ice the contest.

Zan Hefner pitched the complete game for the locals and was touched for 12 hits. Sam Vick did the receiving. Kuhnert, a lefty, and King, a hard throwing right-hander, were touched for 11 hits by the local batters.

Don Proctor with a homer and two singles, Cummins with two singles, Syers with a triple and single, Vick with a long double, and Owens, Woolard, and Hefner had singles to round out the local hitting.

Wednesday at 8 p. m. the Carbondale Coal Belt team will be the visitors for another league encounter. Carbondale is in second place only one-half game behind the Du Quoin team. Local baseball fans are invited out to watch these youngsters play.

Phillies' 'Whiz Kids' Defeat Cardinals Twice to Move Within Half Game of First

By United Press

Maybe it's about time somebody took these cocky Philadelphia Phillies seriously as pennant threats, because the "Whiz Kids" in the candy-striped suits are the hottest team in the National League and knocking on the door of first place.

The Phillies now are only a half-game behind the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals, whom they walloped in both ends of a Sunday twin bill, 6-2, 11-4. And they can take over first place tonight by beating the Cards.

The Sunday sweep behind "comeback" pitchers Curt Simmons and Jim Hearn was the Phillies' fourth double-header sweep of the season and gave them 10 wins in the last 12 games.

The Phils treated two Card hurling stars roughly. In the opener, they handed 18-year-old Von McDaniel the first whipping of his big league career after four wins, and in the nightcap they shelled out 10-game winner Larry Jackson in less than three innings. Rip Repulski's 11-run homer in the first inning of Simmons' two-run double in the fourth were big jolts to bonus baby McDaniel. In the nightcap, the Phils broke a 3-3 tie with a four-run burst in the third inning and Hearn coasted to victory despite allowing 11 hits.

The Cards' double loss tightened the whole NL pennant race. Gil Hodges' two-run, ninth-inning homer gave Brooklyn a 3-2 win over Milwaukee, moving Brooklyn within 2 1/2 games of the top as Milwaukee edged to within one. And Cincinnati moved within 2 1/2 games as it ended a seven-game losing streak by blasting Pittsburgh twice, 9-6, 12-4. In the other NL game, the Giants beat the Cubs, 8-6, in 12 innings.

The New York Yankees retained their three-game American League lead when they rallied for six runs in the ninth inning—four on a grand-slam homer by Bill Skovron and one on a homer by Tommy Byrne—to beat the second-place Chicago White Sox, 6-4, in the second game of a twin bill after lefty Billy Pierce beat them, 3-1, in the opener.

In other AL games, the Cleveland Indians moved within a half-game of third-place Boston by beating the Sox twice, 3-2 and 17-4; the Detroit Tigers swept the Baltimore Orioles, 10-2 and 7-6 in 1 1/2 innings; and Kansas City beat Washington, 11-3, in the second game after the Senators took the first, 4-1.

"Dodger killer" Bob Buhl had his fourth straight win over the Brooks wrapped up until he walked Gino Cimoli to open the ninth and then served a home-run pitch to Hodges. Red Schoendienst had homered for the Braves' first run and Andy Pafko had doubled home the lead run in the top of the ninth.

The Redlegs broke out of their slump with 33 hits, good for 51 bases, in crushing Pittsburgh twice. Ted Kluszewski topped the slugging with two homers in the second game. Reliever Bud Freeman won the opener when the Redlegs came from behind with six runs in the seventh. Joe Nuxhall scattered 10 hits to take the second.

Lockman Saves Giants

Whitely Lockman's two-run homer with two out in the ninth saved the Giants from a 6-4 loss and then Willie Mays' two-run homer in the 12th won it for them. Marv Grissom's five shutout innings earned him a relief win.

Pierce's five-hit win, in which he fanned seven Yankees, was his 13th, tops in the majors. The Sox beat Bobby Shantz with two tie-breaking runs in the sixth inning. In the nightcap, Dick Donovan had the Yankees shut out until they exploded in the ninth but the loss was charged to Jim Wilson, who was tagged for Skovron's and Byrne's homers on successive pitches.

Ted Williams homered in each game for the Boston Red Sox, giving him 25 and the AL lead by one homer over Mickey Mantle. But the Indians beat Boston in the first game by scoring two runs in the ninth inning with the help of Norm Zaichin's throwing error. And the Tribe bagged 20 hits to win the nightcap behind rookie Stan Pitula.

GARDE had expected that the clinic would build up, starting with a first day when, possibly only one or two children would appear, perhaps even none. With that slow build-up in mind, he scheduled a clinic for every Saturday of the first month, excepting to settle into a twice-a-month schedule in August. On the first Saturday, 25 children appeared and were examined. He never had less than 25 at any clinic, and sometimes there were more, each accompanied by a mother in various stages of anxiety, temper or independent hostility. Which meant a lot of personalities crowded into the waiting room, a lot of people for Valley Stanfield to see and listen to and interview.

Her job was to get and keep the records—names, ages and addresses. When the child had last seen a doctor, what immunizations had been given and when, what diseases had been experienced, what injuries, what surgery—all this is to be set down on the initial visit, and the information added to as data was accumulated in the office. The children must be talked to under doctor's orders, or voluntarily.

It was detailed work, and hard work for this beautiful woman used to success and praise. For Valley was not especially successful in this new field.

"Valley says," Windsor chuckled, "that the view from her desk tells her what to expect of purgatory."

"I wonder," said Cornell—he cut his eye inquiringly at Dr. Windsor, then decided to go on and say it. "I wonder if from her place in purgatory she sometimes glimpses heaven?"

Dewey frowned. "You mean Shelton?"

"Well," Windsor conceded, "that might be it. I hadn't thought of it—but, yes, that would explain why she endures purgatory."

Whatever Valley was, whatever she did, the beautiful girl who sat out at that desk on Saturday mornings made things harder for the doctor. And certainly she needed the man he was. Nan would have been much better—in all ways.

VALLEY was like—well—like a nectarine. A dead ripe one, golden and firmly sweet, with a hint of tartness to excite one's taste. Glowing red at the core, a nectarine was an exotic sort of fruit, beautiful and exciting and rare.

He snorted at his flight of fancy, but stayed with it. So—what would Nan be?

Well, Nan was—like an apple. Maybe. Yes, that would do it. An apple was a bit of fruit that took handling. A man could tuck an apple into his pocket, to relish when he was hungry or tired. An apple was a satisfying sort of fruit. And really good. Not easily bruised, not rare—but very good. A lot more people ate apples than ever got to taste nectarines.

"If you'd just try to like the children, Miss Stanfield," the nurse on duty had suggested that morning.

Valley shrugged her beautiful shoulders. "Why bother? They are all little monsters, and my school of thought says, 'Drown 'em while they're pups.'"

That morning Garde had asked her, casually enough, "Miss Stanfield, would you undress Johnny while the nurse helps me with the older child? Undress him and weigh him..."

Valley had been clumsy and shocked. His skin was ingrained with dirt—and he smelled.

Of fish, for one thing. She showed her distaste in an announcement of the fish smell.

"He's gotta right to smell o' fish," said the slatternly mother. "Fish earns us our keep."

She was forced to recognize that her wide expanse of ignorance was due directly to her deliberate aversion toward all things medical. She had no medical information at all, and the simplest processes could amaze her.

Let a baby sneeze... "He's catching cold," Miss Stanfield would offer with the brushiness of voluntary information which Garde had not yet trained out of her.

"Naw, he ain't," instructed the mother. "Sneezein' don't mean a thing. Babies just try out all the new things in life, sneezin' and yawnin' and blowin' and snortin'—don't mean nuthin'. You know that!"

Only—Valley had not known it. And to be so instructed was humiliating. To her.

"WHAT I can't figure is why you, or someone like Kurt Lillard, should choose the specialty you did. Your whole lives devoted to sick kids!" she told Garde.

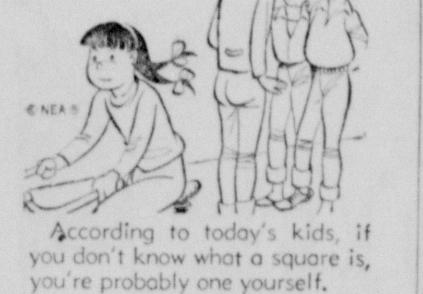

Garde laughed. "Your approach is all wrong. Our lives are devoted to maintaining a world full of healthy and happy children."

"Aggh!" She ran her fingers through her thick hair. "I'm disgusted with the whole project, Garde. I wish Nan had taken your old job." She leaned forward. "Yes, and so do you! Children like Nan. Everyone likes Nan." She broke off, thoughtful.

"That's right," Garde agreed. "I certainly do like Nan."

"Kurt did, too," said Valley. "And that awful Ben Laurent. I've often thought," she said brightly, and hopefully almost, "how wonderful it would have been if those two... Nan and Ben were about the same age, you know, and she would have been so good for the boy."

That morning, Garde wanted to shake Valley. Didn't she ever think of the other fellow? (To Be Continued)

According to today's kids, if you don't know what a square is, you're probably one yourself.
